What if I don't need graphic design?

Those hours can be repurposed for any creative or strategic support you need. Whether it's slide decks, branded client materials, social graphics, event promos, or even refining your pitch deck or offer presentation—this time is here to support your vision. Think of it as your creative overflow space for anything that brings your brand to life.

How do the calls work?

We'll kick things off with a 90-minute onboarding strategy session to map out your 90-day vision. From there, we'll meet weekly for 90 minutes to dive deep into strategy, marketing, messaging, visibility, and leadership—based on your unique goals.

Do I need to have an existing brand?

Not necessarily—but this isn't for someone who's just getting started with no clarity at all. This container is for entrepreneurs who've been in business, have offerings, and are ready to elevate and refine what's already in motion.

Is this more strategic or spiritual?

Both. This is where grounded brand strategy meets intuitive alignment. I guide you through high-level marketing and brand development, while also helping you reconnect to your "why," your energetic presence, and the deeper layers of your leadership.
